Look at the map. This is a re-route of the existing, historical trail, from mile 7-9, in order to avoid crossing CIRI land. Their plan is to move the trail from the high, dry ridge down into the swamps and creek bottoms towards the river. That's fine and good for snow machiners, but it will make the trail basically impassable for ATV riders during the summer months.

I wholeheartedly support this resolution. My father, myself, my daughters, my grandchildren, my bothers, my nieces and nephews have all loved using and helping to care for this trail.

Community trail management agreements like this are a positive tool for more effective stewardship of public lands through partnerships with locals that appreciate and care for such lands as volunteers.

Please pass this resolution and help make a 20 year effort become a reality for future generations of responsible public land users!

The watermelon trail has been used for generations to access the backcountry north of Homer, Alaska.

Designating a trail easement is common sense land management to reduce conflict and ensure long term designated access. The Kenai Peninsula Borough should approve acquisition of a public access easement for the Watermelon Trail.

Trails like this give and guarantee us access to the Alaskan Backcountry, which is why we've chosen to live here. My family wants this guaranteed for generations to come!

Homer area has seen a jump in population and increase in recreational users. We need to increase the designated areas for offroad use. When we don't have clearly designated trails, areas like private property and critical habitats end up getting the unwanted traffic. Please approve this resolution.
